Notes:

1. It is unusual to have two aircraft on the British register wearing the same markings but the allocation of the false registration WK640 to G-CERD means that this and G-BWUV are now listed wearing the same markings. However, the status of G-BWUV is presently unclear.
2. Sea Prince WP321 departed from Bournemouth to St Athan by road on two lorry loads recently. It is planned to return it to the air in due course.
3. Sadly Phantom XV586 is not being restored to fly but it is under the care of the RNHF rather than the FAA Museum at Yeovilton.
4. Ten ex-Army Gazelles have recently arrived at Stapleford Tawney. It is believed that a further ten will head here shortly.

5. ZA312 is the first Sea King HC4 to receive a new code for many months, replacing the previous 'Echo', which has now been taken out of service.
6. Correcting last month's update, the two 146s at Chester are with Hawker Beechcraft, not BAE Systems.
7. ZH829 is the first Merlin HM2 to go to Boscombe Down for trials before this version of the Merlin is released for service use.
8. To clarify the slightly contradictory note in last month's update, Squirrel ZJ276 has been returned to Shawbury.
9. There is still some considerable flux within the Typhoon fleet and No 1 Sqn is due to stand up at Leuchars during June. Aircraft will carry codes in the Fx series.
10. On 10 May 2012, the Government has decided that it will procure the F-35B Lightning II in preference to the F-35C after all.
11. AW139s ZR326 and ZE327 have indeed been taken out of service. Recent photographs show them in new colours at Shawbury, reading for use in the Dutch Antilles.
12. The RAF's eight Globemaster III, ZZ178, was delivered to the UK in the early hours of 24 May 2012. It is now wearing 12-0208 on the nose.
13. This update is the first to be uploaded to <http://www.militaryaircraftmarkings.co.uk/>, the new home of 'Military Aircraft Markings' online. All future updates will be uploaded here.
